FOR THE THIRD TIME

John R. Farr Nominated for the Legislature in First District.

NO OPPOSITION MADE TO HIM

A Number of Providence Districts, However, Were Not Represented by Delegates in the Convention. Mr. Farr's Remarks in Accepting the Nomination—Walter Lyon Endorsed for Lieutenant Governor.

John R. Farr will again be the candidate of the Republicans of the First legislative district for a seat in the state legislature. He was nominated yesterday afternoon at a convention held in St. David's hall on the West Side.

The same convention elected Alexander Altkman delegate to the state convention and Joseph D. Lloyd alternate. Resolutions endorsing the candidacy of General D. H. Hastings, Walter Lyon and Galusha A. Grow were unanimously adopted.

There would be a lively opposition to the nomination of Mr. Farr by delegates from the North End, but nothing of the kind occurred. The convention was most harmonious. No delegates from the following North End districts put in an appearance: First ward, first district, which is entitled to three delegates; First ward, second district, one delegate; Second ward, first district, two delegates; Second ward, second district, one delegate; Second ward, fourth district, one delegate; Third ward, fifth district, one delegate.

Method of protesting against the nomination of anyone from the Hyde Park portion of the district this year.

WORK OF THE CONVENTION. John H. Reynolds, chairman of the district committee, called the convention to order at 8 p. m. and Secretary Adam L. Bonn read the call. Attorney George L. Peck was chosen assistant secretary. When the credentials had been handed in it was shown that the following delegates were in attendance:

First ward—Third district, John Orgil, Thomas J. Watkins. Second ward—Third district, Samuel Oakley. Third ward—First district, George Mason; second district, Richard Walsh. Fourth ward—First district, Morgan Thomas, Arthur Leysen; second district, John Roberts and John Harter; third district, David Argast, William Deacon; fourth district, Joseph L. Hughes, Daniel Mohr, Isaac K. Price.

Fifth ward—First district, David J. Davis, W. Hayden Evans, Second district, Frank Metz, Charles Daniels, Third district, Thomas G. Williams, Thomas Harter, Harry Bradshaw; fourth district, John J. Williams. Sixth ward—First district, Adam L. Bonn; second district, John Bonn.

Tenth ward—First district, William B. Thornton; second district, James S. Stutzman.

WHAT THE RESOLUTIONS SAY. There were no motions and all the credentials were accepted and Chairman Reynolds appointed a committee on resolutions consisting of Harry Headshaw, Samuel Oakley, Robert J. Williams, Morgan Thomas and Isaac Price, Jr. The convention took a series of resolutions and then the following resolutions were presented and adopted unanimously:

The Republicans of the First Legislative district in convention assembled, express our allegiance to the Republican party and its policy of protection to American industry. We deplore the depressed condition of business throughout the country as a result of the agitation for the Wilson bill, a measure created and sustained by special interests that disregard the good and prosperity of the whole country, but congratulate the people upon the striking intemperance pending to an early return to protection by the Republican party, feeling confident that the present state of doubt and unrest will be followed by a re-establishment of confidence and an awakening of the industrial and business spirit of the people, and that the citizens now suffering from lack of occupation.

That we declare ourselves in favor of General D. H. Hastings for governor; Walter Lyon for lieutenant governor; and Hon. Galusha A. Grow for congressman-at-large; and that we request the delegates to the state convention elected this day to do all honorable means to secure the nomination of these honorable gentlemen.

Resolved, That we pledge ourselves to do all in our power to secure the nomination of this convention for the legislature.

At this point the committee went into permanent organization, John J. Williams being elected permanent chairman and Attorney George L. Peck and Samuel Oakley permanent secretaries. Mr. Williams after expressing his gratitude to the delegates for the honor shown him called for nominations for a candidate for the legislature.

Attorney David J. Davis arose and in a neat and concise speech in which he traced the valuable work Mr. Farr accomplished during the two terms he has represented the district, nominated him for the office. The nomination was seconded by Thomas J. Watkins in behalf of the North End, and on motion of John Harris was made by acclamation.

Thomas J. Watkins, William B. Thornton and John Orgil were directed to bring Mr. Farr, and they returned in a few minutes with him. His appearance was greeted by a hearty outburst of applause. After being presented to the delegates he said:

Mr. Chairman, and gentlemen of the convention and fellow citizens: I thank you most cordially for this evidence of your good will and confidence, and if your choice be ratified at the polls next November, as I expect it will, I promise you most earnest and loyal service in behalf of the people. Experience is worth a good deal in Harrisburg when you consider that during each legislative session a thousand bills are presented, and it is a task in itself to determine the good from the bad. If I go back next January I go back with the experience of two terms, many friends to aid me in the battle for the people's interests. Now I want to say frankly to this convention, and I believe it is justice to myself and to my friends to say that I had no thought of running for the third time for your suffrages; and until very recently did I enter the campaign. But when I returned from Harrisburg various gentlemen, including, in fact, dozens and dozens of people, many of them from the North End, told me frankly that two years before they had opposed me, but that they were anxious and determined to do all in their power to have me returned again. I gave them no assurances, but the sentiment kept on growing, and finally I stated that it was the wishes of the people of the First legislative district that I should again go to Harrisburg, I would do their bidding.

I stated before that there were some things to learn there that would be of interest to the people of this district, and the only reason, Mr. Chairman and gentlemen of the convention, that I am before you today as your candidate, is that I may be of sufficient service to the people to warrant their returning me to Harrisburg.

Mr. Farr then explained the controlling factor in his mind, and then, turning his back, emphasized his position, the allegations made that there was any binding agreement on his part or his friends at a conference held at that time, as Mr. Von Storch publicly and in print refused to believe by the result of the conference, resulting finally in Mr. Farr's running his campaign with stickers, Secretary Harris refusing to certify his name on the official ballot and closed by thanking the delegates cordially for their evidence of good faith and confidence.

NAMING THE DELEGATE.

Nominations for a delegate to represent the district at the state convention to be held in Harrisburg May 23 were next called for. Thomas J. Watkins and John Harris, two delegates, acted on the part of the convention to concede the delegate to the North End. He closed his remarks by naming Alexander Altkman as the candidate of that end of the district for delegate. D. D. Evans named Joseph D. Lloyd, of the fourteenth ward. A vote was taken, Mr. Altkman receiving twenty-nine votes and Mr. Lloyd nine. The alternate of Mr. Altkman was made nominations and Mr. Lloyd was selected alternate.

SKETCH OF JOHN R. FARR.

Nephew of Republicans of the First Legislative District.

John R. Farr, who was yesterday nominated for the third time by the Republicans of the First District, has made an excellent reputation for himself during the two terms he has served in the state legislature.

When elected for the first term a stranger among strangers, he introduced, championed and succeeded in accomplishing what had never before been done in the Pennsylvania legislature, namely, the passing of a bill through the house and senate providing that all children between 8 and 13 years of age should be required to attend school.

WARRANT FOR MR. JENKINS.

He is Charged With Keeping the Bar of His Hotel Open on Sunday.

The executive committee of the Pastors' union met yesterday and discussed the present status of the Sunday closing movement and decided on a plan for further, stricter continuance of the work, particularly on saloon closing.

The meeting decided not to forward any prosecutions of drugists this week except in the case of Dr. J. H. Ryan, whose license was suspended last week Thursday until 9 o'clock this morning.

Rev. F. A. Dany, chairman of the committee, yesterday lodged information with Alderman Postagians, W. T. Jenkins, attorney, that Mr. Jenkins sold liquor and kept his Lackawanna avenue hotel open last Sunday. The hearing will be held tomorrow.

It is understood that the committee is leaning toward a settlement of the Sunday closing question. At all events, yesterday's meeting decided not to continue prosecutions of the drugists this week in the hope that arrangements can be made to have sales confined to drug exclusively.

The meeting decided, however, to continue the movement against the saloons. A suggestion of Colonel Boies' was adopted to the effect that each minister and priest of the city be requested to send a representative business man to meet the latter part of next week. At this meeting a plan was devised to raise several thousand dollars for continuing the work which may necessitate the employment of professional agents.

Letters are to be sent to cities generally, asking them to refrain from giving out permits, etc., to be delivered on Sunday.

INTERESTING MEDICAL CASE

New Opium Antidote, Permanganate of Potassium, Successfully Used Here.

Mrs. Frank Osceur, of Olyphant, but generally known by the name of Jennie Jones, a habitué of Custer street resort of questionable character, attempted suicide yesterday afternoon by taking laudanum.

From a medical point of view, the case is interesting. At 1 o'clock Officer Thomas Lowry was notified that a woman had taken laudanum in the house at the corner of Custer street and Franklin avenue. The policeman started with her for the station house, but had only gone a few blocks when she collapsed and a carriage was procured for continuing the trip. In the meanwhile she had told the officer that she had swallowed 10 cents worth of laudanum—about two ounces.

At the station house Police Sergeant Fulton commenced a treatment with the recently discovered antidote for opium poisoning, permanganate of potassium, by giving a fifteen minute hypodermic injection. Until a very recent date the drug had entirely been used by surgeons as a sedative. About two months ago it saved the life of a Pittsburg and about three weeks ago it was used successfully as an antidote for the third time on record at Olyphant.

At 1:30 o'clock Mrs. Osceur was rescued by Dr. H. H. McAndrews and J. E. Holsell at the Lackawanna hospital. Her respiration was but three times per minute. A hypodermic injection of 1/30th of a grain of sulphate of atropine was given.

Between 3 and 5 o'clock four hypodermics of the permanganate in one-fourth grain doses were given; fifteen minutes of digitalis was given once during this period.

At 5 o'clock the stomach was washed with warm water and six ounces of the permanganate containing one grain to the ounce were given internally.

Digitalis was given at 6 o'clock, a fifteen minute dose.

At 4:10 o'clock one-fourth of a grain of strychnine was given hypodermically.

A 15-minute dose of digitalis was given at 6 o'clock.

Strychnine one-fifth of a grain, was given at 8:30 o'clock.

The stomach was washed at 9 o'clock with a quart and a half of black coffee was given.

Up to 9 o'clock Drs. McAndrews and Holsell and five nurses had been performing artificial respiration and endeavoring to rouse the patient from the stupor by slapping and rubbing. A few moments after the coffee had been given she awoke.

The doctors and nurses had been working incessantly for six and a half hours. At 10 o'clock the patient was rational enough to mention familiarly the names of a well known individual in business in this city.

Shortly after the permanganate had been given at the hospital the patient's respiration increased from three to seven per minute. When the treatment was commenced no pulsation of the heart could be detected.

Both Dr. Rudasill and Dr. McAndrews gave it as their opinion that the case would have been hopeless but for the administration of the new antidote, which was last night used in Scranton for the first time.

Interesting Men's League Debts. The Men's League of the Penn Avenue Baptist church had a very interesting debate last night in the lecture room of the church. The subject was "Resolved, That the churches pay too much for singing."

The affirmative was upheld by E. S. Williams and the negative by William McClave. The pastor, Rev. Warren G. Partridge, and Messrs. Whitmore, Keller, Tripp, Ammerman and Dr. Capwell joined in the discussion. A vote of the members was taken, which resulted in awarding the decision to the negative.

CONSECRATED TO GOD

Bishop Rulison, Coadjutor of Central Pennsylvania, Officiated.

CHURCH OF THE GOOD SHEPHERD

Many Well-Known Episcopal Clergymen of This Diocese Participated in the Impressive Ceremonies—Detailed Particulars of the Consecration. A. L. Urban and E. J. McHenry Officiated at St. Luke's.

The Protestant Episcopal Church of the Good Shepherd, Green Ridge, R. V. P. S. Ballentine, rector, was consecrated yesterday by Rt. Rev. Bishop N. S. Rulison, bishop coadjutor of central Pennsylvania. The services were participated in by a large number of the clergy of this diocese who came to the city in special car on the Delaware and Hudson road from Wilkes-Barre, where the meeting of the archdiocesan synod is being held at St. Clement's church.

The following clergymen participated in the ceremonies: Rev. D. W. Clegg, Allentown; Rev. J. H. Wilkes-Barre; Rev. E. A. Warriner, Montrose; Rev. George P. Hopkins, Scranton; Rev. C. L. Slegut, Wilkes-Barre; Rev. W. E. Daw, Towanda; Rev. J. P. Ware, Plymouth; Rev. E. J. Balesy, Carbonate; Rev. Edgar Campbell, Forest City; Rev. E. H. Bolter, West Pittston; Rev. J. B. Warner, Susquehanna; Rev. E. J. McHenry, Philadelphia; Rev. E. S. Ballentine, rector; Rev. Rogers Israel, Scranton, and Rev. A. L. Urban, Dunmore.

PARTICULARS OF THE CEREMONY. Bishop Rulison, accompanied by the surprised choir, clergy and a number of the laity, formally knelt at the church door for admittance at 10 o'clock. Entrance was given the party by Pastor Warden J. Atticus Robertson, who afterward read the instrument of donation. The sentence of consecration was read by the rector.

Included in the service, morning prayers were said by Rev. Rogers Israel, Rev. E. J. Balesy and Rev. C. L. Slegut.

Bishop Rulison was the celebrant of the Holy Communion, and Rev. George P. Hopkins and Rev. Henry L. Jones officiated as epistoler and gospeller, respectively.

Following the bishop's sermon a large number of parishioners received holy communion.

The clergy, some of whom were accompanied by their wives, and a number of the laity issued in the parish building after the service.

SEMON BY THE BISHOP. The text of the sermon was Psalms, 96:6. "The strength and beauty of the sanctuary." The thoughts expressed by the bishop was that the strength and beauty of the church exist in the spiritual, while many consider it only in the architectural. The problem which tests its strength is how to change man so that locks, courts, police, jails and standing armies shall be decreased.

The beauty of the church includes the teachings of our religion, duty and communion with God. It is the science taught by the church which is her salvation. Bishop Rulison said that the church is the source of the moral development of Europe. Its province is not to enter business, but to awaken men's judgment and quicken his conscience. Her purpose is salvation.

RETURNED TO WILKES-BARRE. The clergy departed at 4 o'clock via the Delaware and Hudson road for Wilkes-Barre, where the archdiocesan session will be continued.

At 8 o'clock yesterday morning at St. Luke's church, Bishop Rulison officiated at the funeral of the late Mrs. A. L. Urban and E. J. McHenry to the deceased and afterward celebrated holy communion.

Mr. Urban was presented by Rev. Rogers Israel and Mr. McHenry was presented by Rev. T. B. Barker.

The funeral was read by Rev. E. S. Ballentine.

Mr. Urban is in charge of St. Luke's Dunmore mission and Mr. McHenry is a student at the Philadelphia Divinity school.

Resolutions signed by the Mayor. Mayor (Smith) yesterday signed a number of resolutions of condolence. Among them were the following: Providing for the removal of North Main avenue between Lackawanna avenue and Sweetland street, abutting the tract to George Weaver for the laying of sidewalks of Sixth street between Lackawanna avenue and Carbon street, including the city engineer to prepare estimates and plans for a Trenchless sewer, granting permission to property owners to grade Penn avenue between Delaware avenue and the North Park line.

Notice to Elks. The members of the Elks will assemble at their hall this Wednesday, morning at 10 o'clock sharp, to attend the funeral services of (Frank) Robertson, Episcopal church at 10:30. Interment at Forest Hill cemetery. E. S. Williams, Secretary.
